Background

The 1000 Island Fluids Meeting is a technical meeting and retreat for researchers working in the area of fluid mechanics from Ontario, Quebec, and the North East of the United States. The meeting setting serves as an ideal environment for graduate students or newer faculty to present their research and to interact with the local fluid dynamics community.

Participants have two presentation options:

- Flash Presentation: Three (3) minutes in length followed by two (2) minutes of questions.
- Regular Presentations: 10 minutes time slot followed by two (2) minutes of questions.

The time slot for the talk should be reserved when registering by checking the appropriate column on the registration form below. Participants wishing to make a presentation must submit a 2 page (or even a bit more) extended abstract for their paper in electronic PDF format written using the abstract format found on the web page for the meeting given below. Participants not wishing to submit an abstract should be prepared to receive a substantial quantity of marbles.

Agenda:

The meeting starts Friday 24 April around 5:30 PM with dinner and closes Sunday 26 April at approximately 1:30 PM after lunch. A tentative schedule for the meeting sessions and activities can be found on the web site for the meeting. (When we get it posted!)

Accommodations and Meals:

The participants at the 1000 Island meeting meetings stay at the Glenn House Resort that has an indoor pool area with a hot tub, tennis courts, and a range of other amenities. The meals for the meeting participants are included into the fixed rate negotiated for the participants of the meeting. Breakfast and lunch are buffet style, while the dinner is a fixed menu with a choice of three entrees. (That the organizers get to pick in advance!)

Cost:

The cost of the meeting includes the cost of the room and meals at the Glenn House. The fixed group rates that include the rooms, meals, and coffee breaks are listed on the website and represent the latest costs according to the Glenn House. Note the cost is in Canadian $!!! Note also that these costs include taxes etc!

Registration and Reservations:

In order to simplify the reservation process the organizers will make reservations for all the participants who register using the form below. The participants should include the name of any accompanying persons so that reservations are made for these persons. Register by emailing or faxing the form to one of the organizers. Where possible, register multiple participants from the same university or research group on a single form to simplify the process for the organizers. Participants requesting a double room should indicate their roommate. Participants who do not have a roommate can still request a double. The organizers will attempt to pair them with another participant who wishes to share a room. If this is not possible participants will be required to take a single occupancy room and pay the higher rate.

Cancellation Policy:

The organizers for the meeting will make a reservation at the Glenn House for anyone who is registered for the conference on both nights of the meeting, April 24 and 25, unless informed otherwise by the participant. Any participant who registers, and then later decide not to attend must cancel their reservation. Participants wishing to cancel their registration before April 10, 2020 can cancel with the organizers. Any cancellations after that date must be done directly with the Glenn House Resort at least 24 hours in advance. Participants who fail to cancel their reservation will be liable for the cost of their room if it is charged against the deposit provided by the organizers.
